[0045] Moreover, a desired exposed surface height 134 of exposed surface 122 can be achieved by feeding an excess of adhesive material 114 into the adhesive reservoir 110 such that an initial exposed surface height 136 is higher than the desired exposed surface height 134. The adhesive material 114 is then drawn back (e.g., by vacuum 143), which results in a flattening of the exposed surface 122.
